

Everyone Needs Coaching!

These days, it seems like most companies out there are just focused on their profits and their sales.

But not ATI. They haven't forgotten their purpose and mission. This is a company with great culture and fantastic people who make unique teams.

I joined ATI about three years ago and stayed as an alumni after the training ended. At first I wasn't sure if I had made the right decision, but as soon as I met their team and took the first shop-owner's class it became clear to me that this is it.

Classes are very educational and will get shop-owners on track. Everyone needs coaching, from professional sport players to CEOs of large publicly traded companies! We're all humans and need others to support, approve, and guide us.

I wanted to work on my business and not in it, and ATI helped me achieve that. I made many friends and used their wisdom to my advantage. Now I realize this program made me a successful business owner and a better human; quality of life is important to me, after all we only live once!

I've talked to many other shop owners in ATI's program and it's amazing how their goals were different but their results are the same as mine!
